

Agreement Reached in Air Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trans World Airlines and the Transport Workers Union reached an agreement in principal early today, the National Mediation Board announced.

Pickets were to be withdrawn at major airports around the country at 7:00 a.m. EDT, two hours after the settlement was agreed upon.

Francis A. O'Neill, mediator at the talks, said the agreement was subject to ratification by striking stewardesses and pursers.

Final language of the pact would be written up during the day, he said.

Exact terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

The strike began when talks bogged down with an impasse shortly after a strike deadline Tuesday morning at 12:01 a.m. The walkouts around the United States forced TWA to cancel its domestic service, and severely curtailed international flights.

Management personnel tried to maintain the international service, but their efforts were complicated by the fact that unions other than the TWU were honoring picket lines.

Some 5,000 stewardesses and 281 pursers were affected by the strike.

Wages, working conditions and fringe benefits were among the issues involved in the contract dispute.

Union officials had said there was no recourse but to call the strike because employees had been waiting since August 1969 for a pay raise in the long dispute. Delaying procedures under the National Railway Labor Act, which covers airline disputes, prevented the strike earlier.

Before the strike, TWA hostesses on international flights earned up to $580 a month plus incentive pay for more than 68 flight hours a month. Pursers were earning up to $676 a month, plus incentives for more than 65 hours a month.

Prison Escapees Recaptured

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Three Cummins Prison Farm inmates who escaped from the prison Tuesday morning were captured a short time later at Gould, a prison spokesman said.

The three inmates were identified as Donald Raines, serving five years for grand larceny from Crittenden County; Leonard Naugle, serving seven years for burglary and grand larceny from Baxter County; and Carlton J. Carney, serving 21 years for second-degree murder from Franklin County.

Off Shore Oil Acres Offered for Lease

By STAN BENJAMIN

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department, in offering to lease 593,000 offshore acres for petroleum development, has decided the environmental dangers of oil spills are outweighed by the need for oil and gas.

The department says it is relying heavily on tighter regulations and tougher enforcement to prevent spills from drilling and production operations on the 127 tracts of submerged land off the coast of Louisiana.

Leases on those tracts are to be sold to the highest bonus-bidders next Dec. 15 in New Orleans, in a sealed-bid auction suspended since Feb. 20, 1969, because of a threat of damaging spills.

Despite its precautions, not even the Interior Department claims petroleum development in those waters—some 75 percent of them more than 100 feet deep—will be completely safe for the environment.

The Interior Department reported on Oct. 16 to the President's Council on Environmental Quality: "Immediate short-term effects of oil pollution may seriously damage the marine biological community in the area where the pollution occurs."

"The effects of a long-term pollution are not clearly understood."

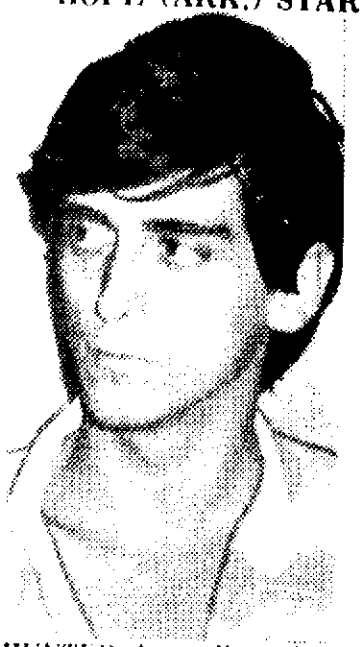

"In addition to a visible tainting of fishery products," it added, "hydrocarbons could be passed along through the marine food chain from the lower forms of organisms to those harvested for human consumption."

"The effect of such oil ingestion on human health is not fully known."

But the department also argued its new regulations and enforcement "appear to be sufficiently effective to render serious oil pollution... only a minor possibility, not such a possibility as should deter needed production of oil and natural gas with a low sulphur content."

The report recommended that "leasing and development (in the Gulf of Mexico) should continue if the United States is to avert a major national energy crisis and make progress toward retarding air pollution."

Considering the air quality advantages of natural gas and low-sulphur oil, the report said that, "over-all, the environmental impact on the nation is expected to be beneficial."

HUNTED by police, Jacques Lanctot is a prime suspect in kidnapping of British diplomat James Cross. Lanctot, 25, is a former taxi driver whose connections with the Quebec Liberation Front go back as far as 1963. His brother is one of the prisoners whose release has been demanded by kidnappers.

Rogers is seeking a formula which will prolong the Arab-Israeli cease-fire beyond its scheduled expiration on Nov. 5 and will bring the Arabs and Israel back to indirect negotiations with U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring as go-between.

American officials believe that the cease-fire may be extended on a day-to-day, de facto basis with no formal agreement. They note that both Israel and Egypt have said they do not want to be the first to resume the shooting.

The Big Four foreign ministers will get together again Friday night at a dinner to be given by Secretary-General U Thant in his 38th floor office suite at U.N. headquarters. Jarring also will attend.

Debate on the Middle East situation is expected to begin in the General Assembly Monday after the windup of the anniversary ceremonies. Egypt called for the debate, seeking new pressure on Israel to withdraw from the territories it seized from the Arabs in the 1967 war.

Judge Orders Abductors Be Shot on Spot

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) — A judge from this South Georgia city, declaring, "I would rather die from the sheriff's bullets than give in to kidnapers," has ordered all law enforcement officers in his circuit to shoot anyone who would be abductors on the spot if an attempt is ever made to kidnap him.

"If I am ever taken hostage or if this court's district attorney is ever taken hostage, I have instructed every police officer in the circuit to shoot to kill," Judge Omer W. Franklin said in a recent charge to a Thomas County grand jury.

"If I get hit, that is the chance I am willing to take, and so is the district attorney," said the 56-year-old father of three, a Superior Court judge since 1969.

Franklin, a former president of the Georgia State Bar, said the matter had been on his mind since Judge Harold J. Haley was killed by a blast from a shotgun taped to his neck outside a San Rafael, Calif., courtroom Aug. 7, he said.

Haley was abducted from his courtroom in an escape attempt by a convict on trial and two convicts present to be witnesses. Haley, the convict on trial, one of the convict witnesses and an accomplice who had brought them guns were killed in a shootout at a van outside.

Franklin said he was in San Rafael shortly after the slaying, and that he and Haley had mutual friends.

Franklin said he decided to issue his instructions, and to make them public, as a means of "throwing the gauntlet down" to anyone with ideas of using him as a hostage.

"My thinking was that if you took away their shield, they wouldn't have anything to hide behind," Franklin said. "Also, it's a matter of principle. I'd hate to have anyone use me."

Franklin said he has discussed his order with Dist. Atty. George A. Horkan of Moultrie and his fellow judge in the circuit, Judge Marcus B. Calhoun of Thomasville, and that both said, "I agree with you 100 percent."

No Provisions in Charter

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — There are no longer any provisions for mules, saine, geese, and oxen in the Minneapolis city charter.

Among phrases deleted from the charter recently by the City Council's Charter and Legislative Committee were:

"To restrain the running-at-large of horses, mules, cattle, swine, sheep, poultry and geese..."

"To prevent all persons riding or driving any ox (from) doing damage to sidewalks."

See APPARENTLY (on page two)

Southern Pacific officials said. Sheriff's deputies put up roadblocks and began questioning pedestrians and vehicle occupants along nearby California 9.

Mrs. Ohta, 43, her husband, Dr. Victor Ohta, 45, their two sons, Derrick, 12, and Taggart, 11, and a secretary, Dorothy Cadwallader, 38, were found, bound and shot in the back of the head, in the swimming pool at Dr. Ohta's $250,000 hilltop home a few miles east of here Monday night.

The home, several hundred yards from the nearest neighbor, was burning fiercely from fires set throughout its 10 rooms, sheriff's officers said.

Dr. Ohta, an ophthalmological surgeon with a thriving practice, had been shot once more than the rest. He had an extra shot in the back.

Sheriff Douglas James of Santa Cruz County said two firearms may have been used—apparently a .38 and a .22.

Autopsies and other aspects of the investigation continued under close secrecy.

Authorities did not link the Ohta slayings with another of similar characteristics discovered Tuesday morning 30 miles north of Santa Cruz at Saratoga. A filling station attendant, Thomas DeCecco, 19, was found bound and shot in the back of the head at the service station where he worked.

Police Slay Prisoner Held for Murder

CHICAGO (AP) — A convicted murder who boasted that he would never die in the electric chair was shot and killed by police as he held pistols to the heads of two hostages.

Using a gun authorities said was smuggled to him in a book which had its pages cut out, Gene R. Lewis, 27, tried to escape from the Criminal Courts Building Monday shortly after a routine hearing.

Lewis was sentenced in February to die for the 1968 murder of a guard for a mobile check-cashing service.

As he was led from the courtroom Monday, Lewis pulled a gun and forced Walter Makowski, a special agent guarding him, into an elevator using the unarmed guard's body as a shield. He fired one shot from the elevator at a guard.

They got off the elevator one floor higher—the seventh—and Lewis pushed Makowski through the door of a courtroom and fired several more shots.

Inside the courtroom he took another gun from a guard and took Michael Stevenson, an assistant state's attorney, hostage.

Alarms sounded throughout the building.

Lewis emerged from the courtroom with the two hostages and shot Leonard Karlin, 55, a lawyer, in the hip.

THROW THE RASCAL OUT

Dear Helen:
I cared for my ailing mother for 23 years and, when she died, she willed me the house, while my brother got a cash inheritance. Soon afterward, he moved in with me, saying it was the family home and he was entitled. He is divorced (his wife couldn't stand him) and I never married, always being the one the rest of the family leaned on.

Life has been hell ever since. He is bossy, picky, sloppy and sarcastic. He orders me around like a slave, then tells everyone that he has to stay here because I couldn't get along by myself. He's got his children convinced that I am "taking" him because he pays in a little bit for food and utilities. They accuse me of charging "rent" for a house that should be half his. That's not what the will says!

We both work, but he makes more than I do. He brags that when he retires in five years he'll presented "Christmas Crafts" for a program at the Daffodil Garden Club meeting on Thursday, October 15 in the home of Mrs. John Burgess with Mrs. David Stewart, co-hostess.

The special guest speaker brought samples of items she has made for the Yuletide Season and gave instructions on how to get the same clever and pretty results. One of her crafts was given as a door prize, and it was won by Mrs. Dewayne Chastain.

Club president Mrs. Terrell Martin announced an important meeting to be held November 12 at 1:30 p.m. in the Douglas Building. The public is invited to the special program which will be brought by Miss Eva V. Evans, State Conservation chairman in the Arkansas Federation of Garden Clubs and Public Information Specialist for the Ouachita National Forest.

The club voted to plant 6 oak and 6 pine trees at Fair Park as a conservation project.

During the refreshment hour, dessert and coffee were served to 11 members and Mrs. Feild.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hugg announce the arrival of a boy Oct. 18. He has been named Brian Thurman. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James Thurman and Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Hugg all of Blevins.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cornelius, Houston, are the parents of their second daughter, born September 27. She weighed 9 pounds, 2 ounces and has been named Sara Beth. Grandparents are Mrs. Alma Cornelius of Hope and Louis Smailhall of Jennings, La.

Spanish Club Meets

The H.H.S. Spanish Club members were held in awe by the first hand description of Spanish culture as related by Richard Hoggard. Students learned that Mexican buildings are copied after the Spanish architecture. Mr. Hoggard said "If you can not go to old Mexico go to New Mexico and you will see a replica of Old Mexico."

Mr. Hoggard was introduced by President Sandy Eakley. This was the first meeting of the year for the Hope High Spanish Club. The annual Banquet will be held in February.

Wichita State Ready for Arkansas

By LEW FERGUSON
Associated Press Writer
WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—"Some of these young men are going to grow up in a hurry Saturday night," said Bob Seaman, Wichita State's new head coach.

His Wheatshockers are just three weeks removed from the tragic airplane crash in Colorado which removed the 22 starting offensive and defensive regulars from the WSU varsity. And they play the University of Arkansas Saturday.

The Shockers, who voted 76-1 to play the final six games on their 1970 schedule, open their "second season" at Little Rock against a team considered Texas' top threat to another Southwest Conference championship.

"It's a football game and we've got to get ready as best we can for it," said Seaman, 38-year-old chief assistant to the late Ben Wilson, Wichita State's head coach who was killed in the Oct. 2 crash in the Rockies. The tragic crash took the lives of 13 WSU graders and injured nine more seriously enough that none will play again this season.

Seaman and the remainder of Wilson's staff have gone about preparing the woefully young remnants of the Wheatshockers squad for a six-game schedule which includes the University of Cincinnati and four Missouri Valley Conference games in addition to Arkansas.

They've done it as unemotionally and as surgically as possible — blending the best freshman players in with the surviving varsity squadmen. The Missouri Valley gave its blessing to Wichita's use of freshmen the remainder of this season.

"The psychological part will take care of itself," Seaman said of his players. "These young men will come to play. Playing football is absolutely the best therapy that could have happened to them."

Auburn Back Is Player of the Week

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
When you go against the Auburn football team, "Ban the Bomb" buttons won't do you much good because the Auburn folks have some stickers of their own and they read, "Pat Who?"

That, of course, is a takeoff on the "Archie Who?" buttons that cropped up last year for Mississippi's Archie Manning. "Pat Who?" answers to the name of Pat Sullivan and he's got rival coaches saying it more like, "Pat...Whew!"

The 6-foot, 185-pound junior quarterback from Birmingham, Ala., had his greatest day Saturday in a 31-7 victory over Georgia Tech that jumped the unbeaten Tigers to sixth place in The Associated Press college football poll.

He completed 16 of 29 passes for 312 yards and two touchdowns and ran the ball seven times for 42 yards and one score, a performance that earned him National Back of the Week honors from The AP.

For the season, Sullivan has completed 68 of 120 passes for 1,144 yards and nine touchdowns and ranks fourth nationally in total offense. All this despite playing only four series—and guiding Auburn to four touchdowns—in a 44-0 rout of Clemson.

Auburn trailed Tennessee 10-0 but a 62-yarder from Sullivan to Terry Beasley made it close and the Tigers eventually won. They fell behind Kentucky 6-0 but went in front 7-6 on Sullivan's 73-yard pass play to Beasley.

Sullivan played second fiddle in the Southeastern Conference last season to Manning. And for a while, Florida's John Reeves was getting raves as the league's super soph, but Sullivan and Auburn won a 38-12 head-to-head duel and guess who wound up on the SEC's second all-star team.

In winning Back of the Week honors, Sullivan's chief competition came from Larry Hopkins, Wake Forest's fullback, who carried 20 times for an Atlantic Coast Conference record 230 yards and two touchdowns in a 36-20 triumph over Clemson, the Deacons' first win over Clemson since 1961.

Other outstanding performances were turned in by quarterbacks Jim Plunkett of Stan-

Joe Namath Is Out for Six Weeks

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath, plagued but never stopped by battered knees since becoming New York Jets quarterback six years ago, will be sidelined for at least six weeks by a broken right wrist.

Namath suffered the injury late in Sunday's 29-22 loss to Baltimore. At first the injury was diagnosed as a jammed wrist but X rays at a hospital Tuesday showed a fracture of the navicular bone on the wrist and the wrist was put in a cast. The navicular bone is a small bone at the base of the thumb.

Jets physician Dr. James A. Nicholas said the condition of Namath, who had never missed a regular or post season game since joining the Jets as a $400,000 bonus baby in 1965, will be continuously re-evaluated during the anticipated six-week recovery period.

"If he were playing any other position, he'd be able to play," Dr. Nicholas added.

But Namath is a quarterback and now the Jets, who have only a 1-4 record and are in deep trouble, are looking for help at the key position. Second-year pro Al Woodall moves into the starting role and presently is backed by Bob Davis, up from the taxi squad and place kicker Jim Turner. The club also will probably try to deal for an experienced quarterback before next Tuesday's trade deadline. One such player could be veteran John Hadl of San Diego.

ford, Joe Theismann of Notre Dame, Van Brownson of Nebraska, Dennis Dummit of UCLA and Steve Judy of Texas Christian; running backs Brian Bream of Air Force and Billy Taylor of Michigan and defensive backs Tom Myers of Syracuse and Tim Priest of Tennessee.

B. Robinson Going for $100,000

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The world finally has discovered what the Baltimore Orioles have known for 12 years—that Brooks Robinson is one for the money.

"Brooks is truly a money ball player," Orioles front office boss Harry Dalton said Tuesday as Robinson, hero of Baltimore's World Series triumph over Cincinnati last week, picked up his first reward—a 1971 Dodge Charger presented by Sport Magazine to the outstanding player in the Series.

"He has always risen to the occasions for us," Dalton said. "But now, probably for the first time, the entire country is aware of what an outstanding ballplayer he is."

Robinson dazzled millions of television viewers across the nation with a spectacular hitting and fielding show to lead the Orioles past the Reds in five games—and put himself in line for a $100,000 salary next season.

"Yes, I'm going to ask for it," said the 33-year-old third baseman, who peppered Cincinnati pitching for nine hits, including a pair of home runs, and repeatedly shut off the Big Red Machine with his magic glove.

Then, with typical modesty, he paid tribute to his teammates for their Series blitz—one year after they had fallen to the New York Mets in baseball's October classic.

"It really wasn't a one-man show," Robinson said. "It took 24 other guys. Coming back to win this year meant a lot to all of us."

Of his acrobatics in the field, he explained: "I felt before the Series started that guys like Johnny Bench, Tony Perez and Lee May were going to pull the ball no matter who was pitching, and I was going to get some ground balls."

"But I don't remember any time in my career when I made three plays in three days like I did against them. I guess I was just in the right spot at the right time. Two or three inches either way and everything could have been different."

Robinson, a golden glove for the past 10 years and one of the game's most respected clutch hitters, is the first third baseman to capture the Series MVP award since its inception 16 years ago.

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Juventus of Turin defeated Barcelona 2-1 Tuesday night in their first game in the second round of the European Inter-Cities Fairs Soccer Cup tourney.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Promotor Chris Dundee said Tuesday night Jimmy Ellis, former World Boxing Association heavyweight champion, would fight Nov. 10 against Chilean heavyweight Roberto Davila in Miami Beach Auditorium.

BOSTON (AP) — Harvey Haddix, who posted a 136-113 major league record in 14 years but will always be remembered for a game he lost, is the new pitching coach of the Boston Red Sox.

He was named to the post Tuesday night, succeeding Charlie Wagner, who has returned to the Red Sox scouting ranks.

Haddix was the author of a famous 12-inning "perfect game" for the Pittsburgh Pirates against the Milwaukee Braves on May 26, 1959—but after all his efforts the score was still 0-0 and he finally lost the game on one hit in the 13th inning.

Picks Texas, Indians, Hogs, Auburn

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If you're a lover of offensive football, hop aboard the next jet for Los Angeles; Eugene, Ore.; Colorado Springs, Colo., or El Paso, Tex.

This weekend's college football schedule lists four games which should be enough to satisfy anyone who likes to see the football move up and down the field. They are Stanford at UCLA, Southern California at Oregon, Boston College at Air Force and Arizona State at Texas-El Paso.

Last week's picks came out 39 right, 18 wrong for .667. The season's record is 254-106-4 for .701.

Stanford at UCLA—The Indians, with all-time total offense leader Jim Plunkett, rank seventh nationally in that category and second in passing offense, while UCLA is 14th and ninth, respectively, with Dennis Dummit at the controls. It should be close, but Stanford smells those roses.

Southern Cal at Oregon—The Trojans, with their great running backs, are third in total offense and seventh in rushing. Oregon, despite an injury to quarterback Tom Blanchard, ranks first in passing with 308.7 yards a game thanks to the combined efforts of Blanchard and sophomore Dan Fouts.

Trojans can be had, but their offense is about due to erupt again. Southern Cal.

Boston College at Air Force—Falcons are fifth in total offense and fourth in passing with Bob Parker. Eagles are 10th over-all and 13th rushing ... but Air Force also is eighth best against the rush. Air Force.

Arizona State at Texas-El Paso—Now hear this, statistics lovers: State is second in total offense, eighth in rushing, 11th in passing, 12th in total defense, sixth in rushing defense. Miners, thanks to Bill Craig's 507 passing yards last weekend, rank third in passing, 13th over-all. Not enough. Arizona State.

Louisiana State at Auburn—Tigers are fourth in total offense, fifth in passing to LSU's seventh in over-all defense and tops against the run ... so it should be interesting. Winner will remain unbeaten in the Southeastern Conference and Auburn remembers last year's heart-breaking 21-20 defeat. Auburn.

Florida at Tennessee—Doug Dickey, who coaches at Florida, was at the helm of Tennessee in last season's 14-13 Gator Bowl loss. That was only the second time in 13 meetings Florida managed to beat the Vols and things should be back to normal. Tennessee.

Miami, Fla. at Pitt—Rebounding Panthers were voted tops in the East after that fantastic 36-35 comeback victory over West Virginia, in which they wiped out a 35-8 halftime deficit. How can there be a letdown after that? Pitt.

Colorado at Missouri—Tigers bounce back from losses to Notre Dame last week and Colorado last season. Missouri.

Southern Mississippi at Mississippi State—Southerners come back to earth after their shocking upset of Ole Miss. Mississippi State.

Kansas State at Oklahoma—Wildcats are on probation and Sooners are unbeaten in Big Eight play. Oklahoma.

Other games: East—Penn State over Army, Colgate over Brown, Columbia over Rutgers, Yale over Cornell, Dartmouth over Harvard, Princeton over Penn, Syracuse over Navy, Villanova over Holy Cross, West Virginia over Colorado State.

South—Mississippi over Vanderbilt, The Citadel over VMI, Duke over Clemson, Georgia Tech over Tulane, Georgia over Kentucky, Western Michigan over Marshall, Maryland over North Carolina State, Richmond over East Carolina, South Carolina over Florida State, Tampa over Xavier, Virginia over William & Mary, Virginia Tech over Buffalo, North Carolina over Wake Forest, Wofford over Davidson.

Midwest—Ohio State over Illinois, Nebraska over Oklahoma State, Michigan over Minnesota, Toledo over Kent State, Dayton over Akron, Ball State over Northern Illinois, Cincinnati over Ohio U., Indiana over Wisconsin, Kansas over Iowa State, Miami, O. over Bowling Green, Michigan State over Iowa, Northwestern over Purdue.

Southwest—Texas over Rice, Arkansas over Wichita State, Houston over Alabama, Texas A&M over Baylor, Memphis State over North Texas State, Texas Tech over Southern Methodist, New Mexico State over West Texas State.

Far West—Utah State over Brigham Young, California over Washington State, Idaho over Portland State, Oregon State over Washington, Pacific over San Jose State, Arizona over Utah, New Mexico over Wyoming.

Hogs Lead Conference Statistics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There was little change in the Southwest Conference football statistics department last week, but Baylor's Derek Davis and Arkansas' Jerry Moore did move up through nothing more than idleness.

Davis, who has averaged 4.2 catches per game, is the new receiving leader while Moore has the top average in punt returns with 11 for 141 yards and a 12.8 average.

The leaders this year are based on the average per game because some teams only play a 10-game schedule and have not added an 11th game.

SMU's Gary Hammond, who suffered a hip-point in the 10-0 victory over Rice, holds the tandem offense lead with 436 yards rushing on 98 plays and has caught 19 passes for 219 yards for a total of 655 yards pass catching and running.

Chuck Hixon of SMU is the best chucker. He has hit 52.8 per cent on 78 of 144 passes.

Bill Montgomery of Arkansas is the total offensive leader with 903 yards on 139 plays for an 180.6 average.

Porker Bill Burnett is the best point-producer. The hard-to-tackle tailback has scored 10 touchdowns.

Arkansas leads in total offense and passing offense.

Arkansas has averaged 456.4 yards per game, including a 214.8 average passing. Texas leads in rushing with 355 yards per game.

Rice leads in total defense and passing defense. The Owls have an average of 223.5 yards allowed per game and only an average of 99.8 per game through the air.

Arkansas leads in rushing defense with an average of 96.2 yards per game.

Hog Workout Kinda Slow, Coach Says

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas safety Steve Walters will probably miss the Razorbacks' game with Wichita State Saturday night, Coach Frank Broyles said Tuesday.

Walters suffered an ankle injury in the Baylor game.

Broyles said that sophomore Corky Cordell, who has not played this season, would replace Walters in the starting lineup.

"It was kind of slow today," Broyles said following Tuesday's practice. The Arkansas coach said he did not know whether the Porks would work today in pads or sweat clothes.

Fullerton Surprise of California

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — There he was, a football coach with an 11-game schedule including a contest against mighty Grambling and no team.

Dick Coury didn't accept the job as Fullerton State College football coach without some idea of where his team would come from, though, and today Court's Titans are 4-0-1 and the surprise team among California's colleges.

"I had been hired as a coach with the Pittsburgh Steelers and I was in Pittsburgh for about three months when Fullerton called me. They didn't have a team but they wanted one. They asked me if I wanted the job," Coury recalls.

That was a year ago. After accepting the post, he hired a few assistants and went out to tell the world where Fullerton was. But before he knew it, he was overrun by candidates to play football—good ones.

Coury was a successful coach for 13 seasons at Mater Dei High School in Orange County, ringing up 90 victories and only 10 defeats and winning four southern division high school titles. His name meant football to residents of the county.

In 1966, he took a job as defensive secondary coach at Southern California and during recruiting trips for USC's John McKay, saw the potential in junior colleges in the state.

"If we could keep California's junior college football players in California when they went to four-year schools we'd all have great teams. I'd like to tap the junior colleges like Don Coryell has done at San Diego State," Coury says.

Defense is Coury's forte. For the first four games in their maiden year, the Titans allowed just one touchdown. There was a 31-0 victory over Cal Poly, Pomona, a 17-7 victory over Southern Utah, a 19-0 victory over Los Angeles State and a 0-0 tie with defense-minded Cal Lutheran.

Last Saturday, the defense leaked. San Fernando Valley State rolled to a quick 19-0 lead midway through the second quarter. The Titans rose up and came back.

"I didn't know what kind of

Memphis Turns Out to See Pros Lose

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was a new scene but the result was too reminiscent of last season for the Memphis Pros who finished last in their division as the New Orleans Buccaneers in the 1969-70 season.

A crowd of 3,208 turned out for the American Basketball Association debut in Memphis Tuesday night and saw the Pros lose to New York as the Nets' Bill Melchionni, Sonny Dove and Bill Paultz combined for 77 points.

Melchionni was high for the game with 30, followed by Memphis' Steve Jones with 26. Dove scored 24 and Paultz 23.

In the only other ABA game, Mack Calvin's 38 points and 26 by Larry Jones overcame a 43-point by rookie Dan Issel and gave the Floridians a 120-115 victory over the Kentucky Colonels in Miami.

In National Basketball Association action, the New York Knicks topped Los Angeles 115-100, San Francisco belted Baltimore 125-105, Detroit edged Milwaukee 115-114, Philadelphia downed Buffalo 98-89, Portland dumped Cleveland 120-98 and San Diego slipped by Phoenix 115-114.

Dr. S. A. Whitlow a former Hope pastor and former Executive Secretary of the Arkansas Baptist State Convention was the guest speaker at Tuesday's Kiwanis Club meeting on a program arranged by Kiwanian Jim McKenzie.

Dr. Whitlow recounted a number of things that have made America the nation into which she has grown, not the least of these being her recognition of and dependence upon God.

Some of his remarks would tend to indicate a feeling that the moral let-down which we are now experiencing could well lead to the end of our country as we have known it. However, he also indicated that there is hope for us, as a people, if we will return to the faith of our early settlers in a living God.

Dr. Whitlow also spoke of the character this team had until then," Coury says.

Quarterback Mike Ernst, a 6-foot-1, 196-pounder, brought Fullerton a 33-25 victory.

Pistons Too Quick for Milwaukee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Detroit Pistons had a bit too much quick and quickness for the Milwaukee Bucks, who just didn't have enough time.

The Pistons, the surprise team in the National Basketball Association thus far in the young season with a 4-0 record after finishing last in 1969-70, trailed the powerful Bucks 113-111 with 20 seconds left Tuesday night when Jimmy Walker flicked out a hand and stole the ball for the Pistons.

Dave Bing missed a drive, but Bob Quick rebounded to tie the score, was fouled on the play and sank the free throw to put Detroit ahead with five seconds remaining.

The Bucks got the ball and called time out with three seconds left, but were called for a technical foul because they had no time outs remaining. Walker stepped to the line and calmly sank the free throw.

Still it wasn't over. Milwaukee took the ball in bounds, Lew Alcindor was fouled, and then sank only one of two free throws after the final gun, and Detroit had a 115-114 victory.

In other games, the New York Knicks, again led by an ailing Willis Reed, beat the Los Angeles Lakers 115-100; San Francisco halted Baltimore 125-105; Philadelphia also remained unbeaten in four games with a 98-89 victory over Buffalo; Portland ripped winless Cleveland 120-98 and San Diego nipped Phoenix 115-114.

The largest crowd ever to watch a Detroit game in Cobo Arena — 11,316—saw the wild finish as the Bucks had their record evened at 1-1. Bing finished with 37 points, Alcindor 38.

Reed, who helped beat the Lakers in the NBA title game last spring despite a painful hip injury, missed the first eight minutes of the second half with stomach cramps in this first rematch between last year's twin-playoff finalists.

However, he came on to score 16 of his 29 points in the final period when the Knicks broke an 84-81 tie and rolled away. Jerry West had 26 points for the Lakers.

Jerry Lucas had 33 points and 14 rebounds and Nate Thurmond 22 and 16 as San Francisco handed the Bullets their first loss in three games.

Golden Seals Not Doing So Good in NHL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
All that glitters is not gold—and the reverse is true when it comes to Northern California's National Hockey League entry.

The team was known as the Oakland Seals until Charles O. Finley purchased the club. Hoping to attract a wider following throughout the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Area, he changed the name to the California Gold-season surprise, tripped the expansion club as Hal Greer came off the bench and scored 20 points. The 76ers took a 52-37 halftime lead and the Braves never caught up.

Portland trailed the Cavaliers by a point as the second period began. But rookie Geoff Petrie broke open the game with 10 of his 21 points and the Trail Blazers ran away from Cleveland. LeRoy Ellis also hit 21 for Portland.

San Diego's Stu Lantz scored a career-high 43 points including the two on a 12-foot jumper with 10 seconds remaining that gave the Rockets their victory over the Suns.

en Seals—but they've hardly sparkled.

The winless Seals absorbed their fifth defeat in five games this season Tuesday night, falling 2-1 to Vancouver, one of the NHL's brand new babies, in the evening's only NHL contest.

The Canucks, behind the solid goaltending of former Seals net-minder Charlie Hodge, notched their second triumph in seven games to move into a four-place tie with Detroit in the East Division.

Hodge kicked out 34 shots before the 13,263 fans and lost his shutout bid with less than two minutes to play when Dick Mattiussi scored. Vancouver scored both their goals in the second period when Wayne Maki got a power-play goal past California goalie Gary Smith at the 24-second mark. Andre Boudrias scored less than two minutes later.

Following a scoreless first period, Maki fired his shot from 20 feet for his third goal of the season on a pass from Orland Kurtenbach after he dug the puck out of a swarm of players in the corner.

Boudrias then banged in his third goal of the season at 1:57 when he shovelled a shot to the far corner after taking a pass from Rosaire Palement.

Long Practice for Arkansas State Indians

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State's Indians went through a long practice session on a rain-soaked field here Tuesday and Coach Bennie Ellender said the workout was not one of his team's best performances.

"It seems like we've had a couple of key injuries and we weren't able to get as much work done as we wanted to," Ellender said. "I think we'll snap out of it tomorrow and the next day and get ready to play."

The Indians face Abilene Christian at Abilene Saturday night in a Southland Conference showdown.

Ellender said there was still concern over the condition of tailback Calvin Harrell who sustained a knee injury two weeks ago. Harrell's leg has not responded to treatment as doctors had anticipated, Ellender said.

Agnew Called a Political Hatchet Man

Associated Press Writer CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has accused Senate candidate Adlai E. Stevenson III of demeaning his father's name. Stevenson responded that Agnew is a "political hatchet man."

Agnew told a Republican fund-raising dinner Monday night that the Illinois Democrat had "weasled," "fudged," and gone through "pathetic contortions" in an effort to play down the liberal tradition inherited from his father.

"I say Adlai III has demeaned his great name," the vice president said.

Stevenson, 44-year-old son of the late two-time presidential candidate, Illinois governor and U.N. ambassador, said in a statement that Agnew is a "political hatchet man."

He said Americans were tired of Agnew's "funny man" tactics.

Some 4,000 Illinois Republicans paid $250 apiece to attend the dinner. The $1 million raised made this stop the most lucrative by Agnew on his fall campaign tour.

Agnew appeared mainly in behalf of Sen. Ralph T. Smith who is fighting an uphill battle against Stevenson to retain the seat he was appointed to last fall after the death of Everett M. Dirksen.

Agnew coupled his attack on Stevenson with a defense of tactics he has used.

He said liberals have attacked him out of "fear and frustration and hypocrisy" because he has hit hard on the law and order issues and sent them all "scurrying for political cover."

Several hundred demonstrators picketed the Conrad Hilton Hotel where Agnew was staying. One placard said, "Majority for a Silent Agnew." The demonstration broke up without incident.

You aren't going to run in to many cases of the partner of a two-club opener having enough points for a two-no-trump response but South did have the 10 points needed.

This crowded the bidding a trifle. North had to show his suit at the three level. Then South had to go to the four level to show his club suit and North could find no better rebid than four hearts. He hoped there was a slam in the offing, but his opening two-club bid was based on only 18 high-card points. He was looking at two possible quick losers in spades.

This put it squarely up to South and he decided to bid four spades, to show the ace. He couldn't be showing a spade suit because North had made it clear that his opening bid was based on a long, strong, heart suit.

South's spade cue-bid gave North the green light for Blackwood. He knew that South was only going to show him one ace but North was getting ready to follow up with a five-no-trump call to ask for kings.

North planned to gamble on seven if South were to show "two kings but South had better ideas.

They were playing the old expert convention that, if a Blackwood bidder followed with five no-trump to ask for kings, he guaranteed that all aces were accounted for. South said to himself, "North wouldn't be trying for seven without solid hearts. Six hearts, plus five clubs, plus two aces, equals 13 tricks. Then he may well have seven hearts, just in case clubs won't run."

After that soliloquy, South bid seven. Since the game was duplicate, he bid it in no-trump for the extra 10 points and a top score.

♥ CARD SENSE ♦

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South

You, South, hold:

What do you do now?

A—Bid six spades. When you use Blackwood, you plan to bid six if your side holds three aces.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding five hearts, your partner has bid five spades to show three aces. What do you do now?

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Heir Conditioning

Freddie was delighted to hear, at the reading of Uncle Dan's will, that he was supposed to inherit a large sum of money. But there was a catch. The money would be his only on condition that he give up cigarettes.

In short order, Freddie challenged the validity of this anti-cigarette clause.

"Uncle Dan had no right to try to control my private life in this way," he complained in a court hearing. "My personal habits including smoking, are no one's business but my own."

However, the court ruled that

Freddie would have to either give up his cigarette habit or lose the money. The judge said that since the money belonged to Uncle Dan, he had a right to put strings on his gift if he so desired.

Of course it is natural, for a person making his will, to want to shape the character or conduct of his heirs. Nevertheless, the law does impose limits as to how far he can go. Consider this case:

A man left money to his daughter, on condition that she not only give up cigarettes herself but also make her husband give them up.

This time, a court decided the man had gone too far and held the anti-smoking clause null and void. The court said he had asked his daughter to do something that was not fairly within her power.

Furthermore, in close cases, the courts are inclined to let the heir keep the bequest, even if he has not lived up fully to the expectations expressed in the will. Thus:

Another man was worried about his son's dissolute friends. He provided in his will that the son should have certain valuable real estate, so long as he did not become a "drunkard and a vagabond."

As things turned out after the man died, his son did indeed become a drunkard. But he never did become a vagabond. Accordingly, not having acquired both of the vices specified in the will, he was held still entitled to the real estate. The court said it was reluctant to take away an inheritance unless the will left no real choice.

Wigs Added to Police Gear

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Campus policemen at the University of Florida have added two long-haired wigs to their supply of police gear.

The Florida Alligator, the school newspaper, reported the university police force has also ordered a $1,500 film camera to be used "in the event of demonstrations."

The wigs, according to William Elmore, vice president for business affairs, will not be used on campus but were purchased for a special drug unit.

SWC Players of Week
Judy, Stutts

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The way Joe Stutts sees it—if you're little you gotta be loud and proud.

The fiery Southern Methodist linebacker, who weighs only 195 pounds, says this about his Mustang team:

"As small as we are ... you have to depend on pride, discipline and mental toughness and things like that."

Stutts and his fellow Mustangs proved their point Saturday with a solid 10-0 defensive victory over Rice.

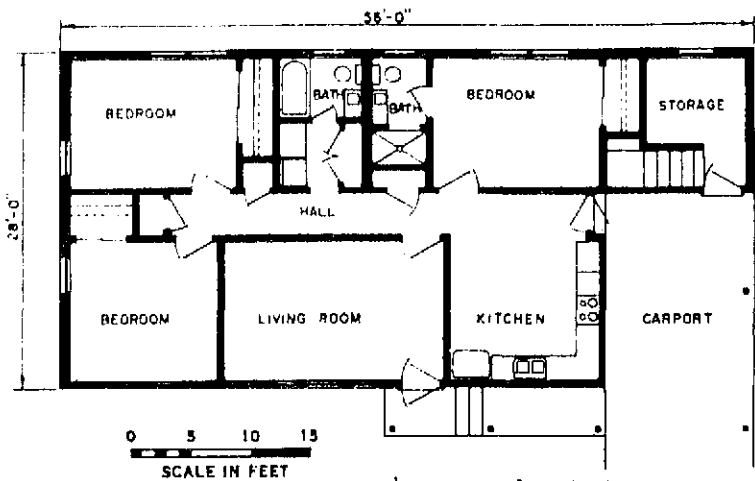

Stutts was named The Associated Press Southwest Conference offensive player of the week for his performance. Quarterback Steve Judy of Texas Christian joined Stutts as the offensive player of the week.

Stutts made 15 tackles—nine unassisted and two behind the line of scrimmage. He also slapped down a crucial third-down Owl pass.

"We were real proud that we took over several times on our end of the field after holding them," Stutts said. "That builds your pride."

Stutts realizes SMU is no juggernaut.

He says "We have to just look at one game at a time... It looks like Texas Tech (the Mustang opponent Saturday) is real tough. They run right at you. Overall, the Rice game picked us up. It showed us what we can

Are you planning to build a house and want your money's worth? If so, this three-bedroom plan may be your answer. Accepted by the Cooperative Farm Building Exchange, this house

do. But doing that every game is a different story."

Judy, the spearhead in a 31-15 victory over Texas A&M, ran for two touchdowns, passed for another and had 252 yards in total offense—136 rushing and 116 passing.

Judy said coach Fred Taylor's decision to call the plays helped. "It always takes the pressure off because you just have to worry about executing plays and if it doesn't work it's not on your shoulders," Judy said. "This was a do-or-die game for us. If we lost, we'd be out of the conference race (with two losses)."

Judy just did beat out running back and teammate James Hodges, who was noted for 170 yards rushing. SMU's quarterback Chuck Hixson also was mentioned in the balloting.

Stutts had a similar problem. He had to beat out teammate defensive end John Jordan, who made 12 tackles and tied Stutts for the Mustangs' Stallion Award.

has several up-to-date features.

The three bedrooms with ample space to fit standard furnishings have enough closet storage areas for linens and cleaning supplies as well as clothing. There are two baths adjacent to the larger bedrooms.

The L-shaped kitchen features good counter working space. Revolving shelves in the corner space of the base cabinet give additional storage.

Since entrance to each room is from the center hall, traffic is kept to a minimum. The entrance from the carport to the kitchen is convenient for bringing in groceries and household supplies.

Other modern features include: desk in the kitchen placed in a handy spot to help the homemaker in her record keeping, meal planning and telephoning; fallout shelter for six persons; workshop or storage room; and a covered walk from the carport to the front entrance of the house.

The floor area of this plan is well within the limits set up by the Farmers Home Administration for construction plans. Complete working drawings of Plan No. 647606 may be obtained, free of charge, from the Hempstead County Agricultural Extension Office.

Minnesota
Player Gets Lineman Award

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Turnabout is fair play for tough Ed Sharockman, an original Minnesota Viking with a new-found flair for finding the end zone.

Sharockman, an unsung mainstay in Minnesota's defense secondary since the birth of the National Football League expansion club 10 years ago, scored his second and third touchdowns of the season last Sunday as the Vikings clobbered the Dallas Cowboys 54-13.

The 6-foot, 205-pound cornerback had tallied just three times in eight previous NFL seasons—while bearing the brunt of Minnesota fans' displeasure as the Vikings struggled up the road to respectability.

Until last season, when the Vikes captured the NFL title behind a bruising defensive unit, Sharockman was a primary target for the boo-birds.

Today, he was singled out by The Associated Press as the NFL's Defense Player of the Week.

The Vikings, winless in five previous meetings with Dallas, led 7-3 when linebacker Mike McGill got a hand on Ron Widby's punt in the first period. Sharockman fielded the carom with an over-the-shoulder catch at the Cowboys' 23 yard line—and started running the wrong way.

But he reversed direction, with an assist from linebacker Roy "Mooney" Winston and shook off a tackler on the way to the Dallas end zone.

"Mooney grabbed me, stood me up and turned me around the right way," Sharockman explained.

After that, the former Pitt quarterback needed no pointers. He stepped in front of fleet Bob Hayes in the second quarter, stole Craig Morton's pass and raced 24 yards for another score, giving the Vikings a 21-6 lead. And he set up a second half touchdown with a 43-yard interception return.

The two-touchdown spree justified Coach Bud Grant's faith in the 30-year-old veteran, who sat out his rookie season with a broken ankle and has had his nose broken 13 times since winning a spot in the Minnesota defense backfield in 1962.

He is the only Minnesota player who has been with the club since the league's 1960 expansion.

sion.

Two NFL defensive backs—Jerry Logan of Baltimore and Paul Marha of Denver—came up with three interceptions apiece to rival Sharockman's heroics and help their clubs nail key victories.

Logan raced 31 yards for a touchdown with his first theft, stalled a New York Jets drive inside the 10-yard line with his second and made a spectacular pickoff on a deflection for his third in a 29-22 victory.

Martha's three seals, coupled with the ferocious pass rush of Rich Jackson, Nick Duranko, Dave Costa and Paul Smith, enabled the Broncos to subdue Atlanta 24-10.

Author Fined
$500, 3 Days
in Jail

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — Author Truman Capote has been ordered to pay a $500 fine and serve three days in jail for failing to appear as a witness at a penalty hearing for a man convicted of murder.

Authorities said they spent three months tracking Capote down after Superior Court Judge Byron K. McMillan issued a bench warrant charging him with contempt of court.

The 46-year-old Capote, appearing Monday in court with two lawyers, said he had notified the court he could not appear because he was in New York for his health.

Army Rests, Attorney for GI Shocked

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer
FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — The attorney for S. Sgt. David Mitchell, the first American soldier to be tried in the alleged My Lai massacre, says he was "really shocked" that the Army rested its case after calling only three witnesses.

The court-martial was recessed Tuesday until today, when the court said it would decide whether to begin hearing defense testimony today or Thursday.

Mitchell's attorney, Ossie Brown, said Tuesday he did not know whether he would call Mitchell to the stand or how many of the 48 witnesses he has under subpoena he would call.

Mitchell, 30, of St. Francisville, La., is charged with assault with intent to commit murder. The Army accuses him of shooting at 30 South Vietnamese civilians during an infantry company sweep through the hamlet of My Lai 4 on March 16, 1968.

Two of the Army's witnesses testified they saw Mitchell shooting into a ditch crowded with unarmed civilians, mostly women and children, but both said they did not see Mitchell hit anyone. The third witness was unable to swear he saw Mitchell shooting into the ditch.

Asked why he wound up his case so quickly, Capt. Michael Swan, prosecutor, said: "I felt it was advantageous to my case to do so."

"Have you talked to Washington about this?" a newsman asked.

"Negative," Swan said. Brown said the prosecution had seven more witnesses ready to testify, including at least three members of Mitchell's company. He had expected the prosecution's case to run through the remainder of this week, he said.

Students Get Chance to Return

WABBASEKA, Ark. (AP)—School Supt. Joe Simpson said Tuesday he was giving students at the J. S. Walker School here until Oct. 29 to return to class without being expelled for the rest of the school year.

Simpson had set the deadline as last Monday after about 150 students at the school left classes last week to protest the dismissal of two Negro teachers.

asked. "Negative," Swan said. Brown said the prosecution had seven more witnesses ready to testify, including at least three members of Mitchell's company. He had expected the prosecution's case to run through the remainder of this week, he said.

Twenty-six members of the Golden Age Club played Host Thursday, 15th, to twenty-two members from the Texarkana Club (including Mrs. Dorothy Raker Director of Senior Citizens Service) and one visitor from Blevins. Halloween masks were worn and a gala day of fun and entertainment was enjoyed.

Miss Dolores McBride Home Economist from Hempstead County demonstrated new ways to make Christmas gifts.

Before a Pot Luck Luncheon was served Mrs. Eva McKinney brought the devotional and led the group in singing "How Great Thou Art."

GOP Chairman to Renominate Mr. Agnew

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — Republican National Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton says he plans to renominate Spiro T. Agnew for vice president in 1972 and "I intend to nominate him for the presidency" four years later.

Morton also told several hundred Republicans at a fund raising dinner Tuesday night that "you will never find a Republican who has done more for the United States" than Agnew.

The GOP chairman and Maryland congressman made the comments as Agnew, a former Maryland governor, sat by his side. They were appearing in behalf of this state's underdog Republican candidates for governor and U.S. senator.

"I have to keep my options open, Rog, as a 'functionary' of the Nixon administration," responded Agnew.

Three weeks ago Agnew called Morton a "party functionary" for supporting the re-election campaign of Sen. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y. Agnew had said Goodell was a radical liberal who had no place in the party.

Earlier Tuesday Agnew, asked by a television interviewer in Chicago if he had any presidential ambitions, had said he "just wants to be the best possible vice president."

When pressed about whether he would rule out a White House try, Agnew said, however, "I'm not ruling out anything."

President Nixon's latest comments on the matter, made several weeks ago, were that it was premature to talk about even the vice presidency in 1972.

Agnew, who has campaigned several times in his home state for gubernatorial candidate C. Stanley Blair and Senate hopeful Glenn Beall, came to Baltimore Tuesday night from Washington.

He returned to the capital earlier Tuesday after a two-day campaign visit to Illinois. After spending today in Washington, the vice president departs Thursday for a swing to Iowa and Arizona, returning East Friday for a two-day visit to Connecticut.

Agnew also said his controversial nationwide campaign travels had stirred criticism from free spending liberals because he caught them "red handed in the open field making off with Uncle Sam's watermelons."

During his television interview in Chicago Agnew suggested it would be "interesting" to have news commentators appear voluntarily on a panel show and be quizzed by elected public officials about the broadcasters' opinions on subjects in the news.

ABC Commentator Frank Reynolds, whom Agnew named as a prominent commentator that might be interviewed, said in New York the suggestion was ridiculous.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — "CBS Reports" showed Tuesday night a timely and carefully impartial program about television commercials which, as commentator Mike Wallace explained, "are intended to package and sell politicians."

The programs introduction showed examples of soft-sell, hard-sell, entertaining and preachy political commercials.

"For better or worse, television has changed the nature of the political process in the United States," declared Wallace—and followed it by having former astronaut John Glenn explain his conviction that he lost the Democratic primary race for senator in Ohio because he did not buy enough TV time.

"Money," said Glenn, "Money lets you buy TV time. That's the main thing."

With all the freedom an anthology provides, ABC's "Movie of the Week" is as variable in quality as spring weather. "Wild Women," Tuesday night's 90-minute program, was the equivalent of a cold, rainy night.

It was a comedy switch of the classic Western.

Hugh O'Brian, looking dashing as a frontier guide, had been hired to lead a caravan, loaded with cannon for a beleaguered Texas garrison, through hostile country. To conceal their cargo, the men were supplied with "wives," decoys who were actually women convicts promised pardons if they carried off the scheme.

Bumpers Linked to Old Guard by the GOP

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said in a speech that Sen. Guy F. Jones of Conway had been chosen to spearhead the Dale Bumpers campaign in Conway County.

Mrs. Payton Kolb, cochairman of Democrats - Independents for Rockefeller, said at a news conference that Jones is a "county campaign coordinator" for Bumpers.

The remarks were part of a Republican effort to link Bumpers, the Democratic nominee for governor, with "old guard" elements in his party.

They were based on a story in the Conway Log Cabin Democrat Sept. 29 in which Jones was identified as a cochairman of a Bumpers campaign breakfast.

Robert M. Childs III, who has been Bumpers' Faulkner County campaign manager since four weeks before the Aug. 25 preferential primary, said the story was in error.

"We were holding a fund-raising breakfast and we held a meeting to try to get tickets distributed," Childs said. "Mr. Jones' associate, Phil Stratton, was there, and he said that Mutt Jones could sell a lot of tickets. I said, 'Okay, here are half the tickets. Have Mr. Jones sell them.'"

Childs said Jones sold 26 tickets out of 750. He said Jones had nothing to do with the campaign.

Jones said he had nothing to do with the organizational meeting, but he attended the breakfast, along with 200 to 250 others, and he was introduced, along with all other officeholders who were present.

Jones said he understood that Stratton had suggested at the meeting, after Bob Wilcox was named chairman, that someone who had supported former Gov. Orval E. Faubus in the runoff primary should be named co-chairman. "I further understand that they asked Mr. Stratton to take it, and he said facetiously, 'I'll either take it or I'll volunteer Sen. Jones' services.'"

Jones said that he might be a county cochairman but that he hadn't been asked to do anything, except sell breakfast tickets. "I have to go out and get my own Bumpers stickers and cards," he said. "None has been brought to me."

Jones said he supported Faubus because "I saw what Orval had done for my home county" and that he would support him again.

But, he said, he always supports Democratic nominees, and so he became a Bumpers supporter about 10:30 p.m. on election night when it became apparent that Bumpers had beaten Faubus.

"Mr. Dale Bumpers has never contacted me personally nor has he ever asked me directly and personally for my support nor has he ever told me as a senator or individual that anything would be given me if he were governor," Jones said.

Rockefeller first linked Bumpers with Jones in his speech to the Republican State Convention Oct. 3. Referring to a picture of Bumpers sitting next to Jones and former state Rep. Paul Van Dalsem at dedication ceremonies for a bridge at Toad Suck Ferry, Rockefeller said:

"Lo and behold this week I read along with you that this was no stroke of fate at all. One of those three dignitaries in that picture seated on the speakers stand, none other than Mutt Jones himself, has been chosen by the man on his left, my opponent, to spearhead his campaign activities for him in Faulkner County."

On Oct. 14, Mrs. Kolb said that "we see in the papers where Mutt Jones is a county coordinator for Mr. Bumpers."

Bumpers said that the encounter at the Toad Suck dedication marked the first time he had seen Jones in 15 years.

"I have never asked Sen. Jones to handle anything," Bumpers said. "I'm surprised that they (the Republicans) would try to make political capital out of that (his being in a picture with and his alleged connection with Jones) when there's no substance to it. If the governor had been there (at the Toad Suck dedication), he would have been seated near Sen. Jones."

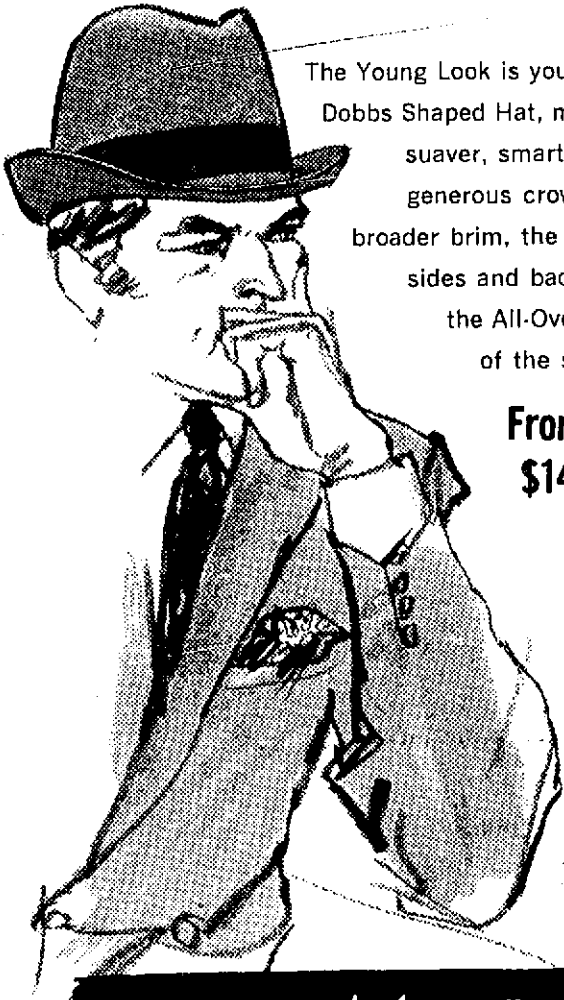

Jack Jackson, the newsmen who covered the organizational meeting, said there was no doubt in his mind that those in charge of organization for the breakfast recognized that Jones would be a cochairman of the breakfast.

The newspaper account of the organization meeting says:

"Childs appointed Wilcox chairman of the breakfast drive and Stratton said a cochairman should be named from among Faubus supporters in the primaries. Childs agreed and suggested Stratton take the position. Stratton then 'volunteered' Jones, who was not present."

Bob Thomas at the Movies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Spanish-speaking American boy sees Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid wipe out a regiment of Bolivian soldiers. He sees the Wild Bunch annihilate the Mexican army. It's only natural for him to say, 'Gee, I wish I were an Anglo.'"

Cicardo Montalban was speaking about a cause that he and other Latin Americans are devoting themselves to: the portrayal of their race in movies and television.

Three organizations have been formed to combat what the members consider libels of Spanish-Americans. Their objections range from the somnolent peon in movies to the corn-chip bandito of television commercials.

Charisma, headed by Ray Martell, is one of the groups. Justicia—Justice for Chicanos in the Motion Picture and Television Industry—is another. Justicia, led by Ray Andrade, this month held a meeting with leaders of the Actor, Director, Producer and Writer guilds, who agreed to urge the need to "re-create the image of the Chicano in American society."

Nosotros—We—is the third group and its president is actor Montalban.

"The three organizations differ in degrees of militancy," explained Montalban. "We have had our differences in the past, but now I think we have established lines of communication. I think we all function well together, because we are agreed that something needs to be done."

Nosotros has three major aims, the actor said. They are:

"1. To correct the image of the Spanish-speaking American, who is portrayed either as the sleepy, lazy, pastoral peon or as a bandit. We are the largest invisible minority in the United States, yet no other aspects of our people are shown in films. This is an immense disservice to the young people, who consider themselves outcasts; they cannot identify with bandits or comedic figures.

"2. To make sure that a man is not denied work in the industry because his name happens to be Garcia. There have been many examples of actors who have been unable to find jobs until they anglicized their names. Then they have been turned down for Latin roles 'because you don't look Mexican.' That is ridiculous. Mexicans are as varied in appearance as people in the United States.

"3. To stimulate actors to go further in their profession by study. We want to establish workshops, first for professionals and then as a means of developing talent from the community.

"This has been the stickiest part of our program. We have 237 members and a teacher can handle no more than eight to 10 students. We are trying to get the workshop aspect organized; we must crawl before we can walk."

Kirk Hitting the Chicken Circuit Early

By RICH OPPEL

Associated Press Writer
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Republican Gov. Claude Kirk is waging a grueling, underdog re-election campaign laced with his familiar flamboyance against a Democrat who portrays him as a clownish headline-hunter.

"It's an uphill battle," Kirk conceded, puffing a fat, green cigar after a game of hearts with two staff members aboard his old DC-3 campaign plane. "But I'm used to that. It's never been any other way."

The governor is on the road as early as 5 a.m., and as late as 2 the next morning, to search out voters on the fried chicken circuit, in their homes, where they work and congregate. The rigorous campaign stands in sharp contrast to the last week of his primary battle against millionaire Jack Eckerd of Clearwater. Then Kirk's campaign strategist, Robert E. Lee, figured Kirk was so far ahead he could quit and keep quiet, which he did.

More in that mold now is the Democratic candidate, Reubin O'Donovan Askew of Pensacola, who has carried on a low-key campaign, with a stop or two a day since the Sept. 29 runoff.

That ended Monday. Askew opened up by saying Kirk had earned the title "Tax Fraud Claude" during his four years in office.

"After campaigning on a phony 'no new tax' pledge," said Askew, "he recommended the largest single consumer tax increase in the history of the state."

The Democratic candidate referred to Kirk's 1968 proposal for raising the 3 per cent sales tax to 5 per cent. The legislature compromised, approving a 4 per cent rate.

Askew's attack was an echo of the first Democratic primary when he kept state Sen. John Mathews out of the runoff by quoting a comment Mathews had made years ago on a grocery tax, and tagging him "Food Tax Jack." Mathews couldn't shake the label, and now concedes that it beat him.

According to Askew's aides, the 42-year-old state senator also plans to charge Kirk with being soft and ineffective on crime and still regards himself as the original law-and-order man—"before Agnew," as he puts it.

Askew, who proposes a corporate income tax which he says will avert the need for greater property and consumer taxes, projects an image completely different from Kirk.

"I think the people want a governor not so interested in headlines," says Askew, "not so interested in exploiting crises, and more effective in getting the job done."

The Democratic candidate has been three times hit with the liberal label, first by Robert E. Lee, then by Kirk himself, and finally by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. It's a word that Republicans, outnumbered 3 to 1 in registered voters, have used effectively in defeating such Democrats as Robert King High and LeRoy Collins, but Askew's campaign manager, Elmer Rounds, says it hasn't caused the slightest ruffle yet. "Our people just laugh."

Kirk's campaign was boosted last week by Agnew's appearance in Jacksonville and Orlando, but nobody in Kirk's camp felt this, in itself, could nudge the 44-year-old Kirk into the lead.

Still, together with U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell's appearances at Miami Beach and Fort Lauderdale, and President Nixon's expected entrance into the Florida campaigns, things are looking up for the governor.

Although the White House visits were calculated to bolster GOP Senate nominee William C. Cramer's difficult campaign, they have to accrue to Kirk's benefit also. Agnew carefully devoted equal time and equal praise to Cramer and Kirk in his speeches, probably knowing that any snub of Kirk would drive another wedge between the none-too-friendly Floridians. Kirk actively supported G. Harold Carswell against Cramer in the primary.

Through it all, Kirk's colorful style goes on:

Wednesday, October 21, 1970

—When he greeted the vice president by saying before 6,500 people, "Mr. Vice President, oh buddy, do we love you! You are our gladiator, going into the nation to do battle with the Philistines—those wild radicals. Mr. Wonderful ..."

Kirk stumbled badly in two campaign comments last week. At Daytona Beach, he told a PTA group that the Daytona Beach Journal News thought no more of his attendance there than to send "a lady reporter." The apparent slight of the reporter, Jennifer Bolch, angered several women's and press organizations.

Shortly before that, Kirk told a reporter in Quincy, where a racial disturbance had broken out, that "it was just another Saturday night in Gadsden County."

Although the governor's remark was recorded by the newsmen, Kirk later insisted that "some of the wild-eyed, ultra-liberal media misconstrued" his statement.

One might think that business would avoid a candidate such as Askew, but actually campaign contributions are rolling in, roughly keeping pace with those Kirk is getting.

"He looks like a winner," Manuel Garcia, an establishment lawyer said at a cocktail party for big Askew donors in Tampa. "So, the big business guy is going to spread it around; a few hundred to Askew, a few hundred to Kirk."

Three Calls Received on Kidnapings

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal police received three calls during the night from a man who claimed to represent the Quebec Liberation Front and offered to discuss conditions for the release of kidnapped British Trade Commissioner James R. Cross.

During the second call, the police asked the caller several questions which they felt only Cross could answer. The man in a third call about 3 a.m. said he would call back in the afternoon or evening with the answers.

Police said they expect the call about 6 p.m., but one added: "If it's just a joke he won't call back because he won't be able to answer the questions."

Provincial police said they were still holding 245 of 343 persons arrested in their investigation into the kidnapping of Cross and the kidnap-murder of Provincial Labor Minister Pierre Laporte.

Members of the Quebec Liberation Front, or FLQ, took Cross from his Montreal home Oct. 5 and kidnapped Laporte five days later. They murdered Laporte after the Canadian government refused to release 23 FLQ men serving prison terms or awaiting trial, invoked the War Measures Act, and launched an intensive police and army manhunt across Quebec Province.

Laporte was buried Tuesday after heavily guarded funeral services at Montreal's Notre Dame Roman Catholic church attended by his family and nearly 300 politicians headed by Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa.

Police searched the church with dogs trained to sniff out dynamite and combed adjoining sewers for bombs and terrorists. Troops with rifles and machine guns lined up in front of the church facing about 1,000 persons watching from the sidewalk, but there was no incident.

The Montreal Gazette reported today that police had picked up the trail of Paul Rose, one of the two men for whom warrants have been issued in connection with the kidnappings, a few days before Laporte was found slain. The newspaper said undercover men tailing the 27-year-old suspect lost sight of him when he entered a house in the Montreal suburb of Longueuil "and never came back out."

The warrants for the arrest of Rose and taxi driver Marc Carboneau had not been issued at that time. The Gazette said some officers felt Rose should be picked up, but "a high-ranking police officer rejected the idea, hoping that Rose would lead them to the place where Laporte was being held hostage."

President Is Seeking Election Support for Policy in SE Asia

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is seeking election-day support for his policy in Southeast Asia, telling voters, "If you want real peace, the peace that will last," send more Republicans to the Senate.

"What I am saying to you is that we have a plan which is ending the war, which is reducing our casualties, which is bringing the boys home, but we need senators and congressmen who understand the plan and will support it," the President said in Fort Wayne, Ind., Tuesday night.

Nixon was back at the White House today after his two-day vote hunt with Southeast Asia high on his agenda, including a meeting with Souvanna Phouma, prime minister of Laos, who is in the United States for the 25th anniversary ceremonies at the United Nations.

The President talked of foreign policy, of law and order, of respect for policemen, as he campaigned before crowds that defied rainstorms to turn out for his rallies and line his motorcade routes at three stops in the South and Midwest.

"When people will stand in the rain, that means we're going to win," Nixon said as he bid for Indiana support for Rep. Richard L. Roudebush, who is running against Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke.

Some 12,000 people cheered him at a rally at the Fort Wayne Coliseum, and thousands more were on the streets and at the airport despite the rain.

"In order to have a generation of peace, we need to have backing for the President of the United States, we need it in the Senate, we need it in the House," Nixon said.

Nixon hit a similar note at Johnson City, Tenn., at a rainy rally on the campus of East Tennessee State University, where the crowd was estimated at 30,000 to 50,000 people.

It rained off and on as Nixon urged election of Rep. William E. Brock III to displace Democratic Sen. Albert Gore. "We are ending this war," he said. "We are ending it in a way—and this is the critical difference—between Bill Brock and his opponent—that we can win the peace."

In Asheville, N.C., some 15,000 people stood in a downpour at the Buncombe County Plaza as Nixon declared: "If we were to cut and run, if we were to encourage the enemy by the way we ended the war ... it would plant the seeds for another one."

Thousands of people stood in drenching rain along the highways waving as Nixon paid his first presidential visit to North Carolina to seek votes for Republican congressional candidates.

FBI agents said Taylor had been living in California since May of 1969.

Facts Leading to Citation Fabricated

SAIGON (AP) — A general received the U.S. Army's third highest award for valor in combat because of a citation manufactured by a team of enlisted word artists, the chief of staff for the 1st Air Cavalry Division admitted today.

But Brig. Gen. Eugene P. Forrester "was completely entitled" to the Silver Star awarded him, said Col. George Newman. "There is no question about it. His service in the division was completely distinguished and he was renowned for his courage and valor."

Informed sources said that after the bogus citation was sent up the chain of command, the general's aide and his helicopter pilot signed so-called eyewitness accounts that were virtually carbon copies of the citation fabricated by the enlisted men.

Spokesmen for the Army and the 1st Air Cavalry Division said the award to Forrester was being investigated.

Two of the enlisted men who wrote the citation were reported to have left today for leave in Australia. They were Spec. 4 Roy Trent, 22, of Kingsport, Tenn., and Spec. 4 Richard Kempkens, 21, of St. Clair Shores, Mich.

A third member of the team, Pvt. James Oistad, 22, of Cashon, Wis., was reported in conference with the inspector general at Bien Hoa, 15 miles northeast of Saigon, and not available to newsmen.

Forrester, now assistant chief of staff for civil operations and rural development in Saigon, was decorated last Thursday. The award was based on actions attributed to him in Cambodia on June 9, when he was the division's assistant commander.

The citation accompanying the medal praised Forrester for "exceptionally valorous actions ... while serving as mission commander with the 1st Cavalry Division Airmobile during a visual reconnaissance mission."

It said Forrester's command helicopter flew over a ground unit that came under enemy fire while setting up a night defensive position.

"After calling in and adjusting artillery fire on the enemy positions," the citation continued, "he ordered his pilot to descend in order to more closely judge the effect of the artillery fire and to insure that no American troops were endangered. Although his aircraft had come under heavy fire, it remained in position to observe and adjust the artillery."

"Informed that the ground unit was running low on ammunition, the citation went on, Forrester flew to Fire Support Base Bronco, loaded his helicopter with ammunition, landed the ammunition in the battle area and flew out a load of casualties."

Newspaper Backs Bumpers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Northwest Arkansas Times here has endorsed the proposed new constitution and the candidacy of Democrat Dale Bumpers for governor.

The paper said in Monday's edition that it approved of the "political philosophies" expressed in the new document.

In the endorsement of Bumpers, the paper said that in Bumpers "we see the potential for unity of action and purpose, which the state badly needs..."

UN to Get Preview of Mid-East

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations gets a preview today of the coming Middle East debate in the General Assembly when Israeli Premier Golda Meir, the Soviet Union's Andrei Gromyko and a number of other leaders take up the Arab-Israeli conflict in U.N. forums.

Mrs. Meir was expected to reiterate Israel's determination not to return to indirect peace talks with the Arabs until Egypt pulls back the Soviet anti-aircraft missiles which the Israelis charge have been moved closer to the Suez Canal in violation of the current cease-fire.

Gromyko, Soviet foreign minister, was certain to echo Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad's denial that either Egypt or the Soviet Union had violated the cease-fire. Gromyko is reported to have told Secretary of State William P. Rogers that since the Russians were not a party to any cease-fire deal, they could not be guilty of any violation.

The Middle East log jam was due for a detailed going over today in the Security Council, which scheduled the first meeting at the foreign ministers' level in its history to discuss war and peace issues. At least 12 of the 15 nations of the council were to be represented by their foreign ministers, including Rogers, Gromyko, Sir Alec Douglas-Home of Britain and Maurice Schumann of France.

The meeting, called as part of the silver anniversary session of the United Nations, was ordered closed, but the ministers were expected to issue a communique.

Booster Club Circus Comes to Town

The circus came to town today—a living testimony that some good things don't change. All the glamour that never changes for children of all ages: Beautiful girls, colorful costumes, exotic animals and a breath taking performance. The Carson & Barnes Five Ring Wild Animal Circus is in town for two performances, today only, at the West Avenue site.

The circus was brought here by the Hope Athletic Booster Club to aid its Athletic Fund. Tonight's final showing will be at 8:00 p.m. with the doors opening earlier to allow patrons ample time to view the huge wild animal menagerie.

On hand at this afternoon's performance were hordes of kids who had been counting the days in anticipation of that first thrilling glimpse of the huge "Big Top" towering above the gaily colored midway.

There was the pungent odor of sawdust, peanuts, popcorn and pink cotton candy, the sudden hush before the brass band blared loudly into the opening march, and the mounting excitement as the lumbering elephants swayed around the ring carrying their glittering cargo of sequined ladies.

More fun than a circus is hard to imagine. . . especially if you're a child at heart, and the Carson & Barnes Circus today presented excitement enough for any child. There were three herds of performing elephants, waltzing liberty horses, camels, llamas, ponies, and other animal acts.

There were wild animal trainers, aerialists, acrobats, jugglers, clowns, wire-walkers, aerial ballets, lovely bareback riders, and an old time blaring circus band.

The circus rolled into town early this morning and transformed the W. Ave. B. Industrial Site into a spangled wonderland of billowing tents. Tonight's final performance will begin sharply at 8:00 p.m. with tickets going on sale an hour earlier.

Apparently Killer Car Found in California Where Five Met Death

By JACK SCHREIBMAN
Associated Press Writer

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — Investigators say they have found the car killers apparently used to escape from a burning hilltop mansion where a wealthy eye surgeon, his wife, two young sons and secretary were bound, shot to death and dumped into a swimming pool.

The green Oldsmobile station wagon belonging to Virginia Ohta was found Tuesday by the engineer of a Southern Pacific train in a railway tunnel a few miles north of here.

The engineer said the car was not there when he went up the narrow, forested canyon at 3 p.m. but was burning in the tunnel when he came back down at 4:45. He used the train to push the car out of the tunnel.

No one was seen at the time, See APPARENTLY (on page two)

Clothes Keep Living Costs Climbing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The pace of rising living costs quickened again in September, going up four-tenths of one per cent because of higher prices for clothing, housing and consumer services, the government reported today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said last month's rise was even higher on a seasonally adjusted basis—five-tenths of one per cent.

The September rise somewhat dampened Nixon administration hopes for its anti-inflation campaign that had been raised in August by one of the smallest monthly hikes in several years of two-tenths of one per cent.

The September rise pushed the consumer price index to 136.6, meaning it cost $13.66 last month for every $10 worth of typical family purchases in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

However, the bureau noted there still was an easing of the nation's worst inflation in 20 years. It said the seasonally-adjusted annual rate of increase had declined to 4.2 per cent in the third quarter of 1970 from 5.8 per cent in the second quarter and 6.3 per cent in the first quarter of the year.

The September report said grocery prices declined three-tenths of one per cent, but because they usually drop more in that month it was figured as a rise of four-tenths on a seasonal basis.

Hope Man Held for Robbery at Nash, Tex.

TEXARKANA—Ronald Dale Windsor, 29, of Hope, Ark., was charged with armed robbery Tuesday in connection with the robbery of the Joy Twin Drive-in Theater on IH-30 near Nash, Texas, Sunday night.

Windsor's car was impounded by the Bowie County Sheriff's office shortly after the robbery occurred. The car was found approximately 100 yards west of the box office at the drive-in.

According to Bowie County Sheriff C.C. Rachel, Windsor has been charged with armed robbery and his bond set at $10,000 by Judge Ken Burkhalter.

Texas Ranger Max Womack assisted in the arrest.

Police Probe Fire, Wrecks and Larceny

Hope Police were very busy yesterday working two accidents, an arson case and a petty larceny case.

Robert Standard, 35, was charged with three counts of petty larceny in connection with the theft of old fashioned wash pots. Officers Ward and Willis recovered five pots from Standard.

A 14-year-old Negro youth was arrested in connection with the burning of the football parade floats in the school stadium last weekend. Officers Milam and Sinyard turned him over to juvenile authorities.

Yesterday on S. Walker a mail cart driven by Terry Castle went out of control and overturned. Miss Castle was taken to a local hospital and treated for what was believed minor injuries. A passenger, Sharpy Crippen, was not hurt. Officer Haltom charged Terry Castle with failure to have a driver's license.

On East Third at Hazel Street a car driven by Gary Speer of Hope ran a red light and hit another driven by Doyle Yocom. The Yocom car was knocked into a third vehicle driven by Sally Riggs, also of Hope. All three vehicles were considerably damaged but nobody was injured. City Officer Carl Ward charged Speer with running a red light.

WR Promises to Continue Programs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Monday night in a 30-minute televised speech that if elected to a third term he would continue to offer "specific programs for the betterment of the state."

The governor said he would continue to know the problems of Arkansas and study possible solutions and "then propose what is best to the General Assembly."

Rockefeller spent most of the program enumerating accomplishments of his two terms in office and pointing out the "professionalism and extraordinary dedication of many fine people" who had worked in his administration.

He said during the past several years, Arkansas had gained the confidence of many top federal agency officials.

He quoted President Nixon as saying that "even the strength of the Federalist system itself is dependent upon the kind of creative leadership that Win Rockefeller is giving to the state of Arkansas."

The governor also urged voters to support the proposed new constitution to be voted on in the general election next month.

The new document "will enable us to meet the demands and opportunities of the 20th Century in a manner appropriate to the 20th Century," Rockefeller said.

Earlier Monday, Rockefeller campaigned at Batesville, Searcy and Jacksonport.

He told about 450 employees of the Batesville Manufacturing Co., he said he did not believe the people want to see the legislative branch of government managed by the executive branch.

Rockefeller pointed out that the Arkansas Gazette had endorsed his opponent, Dale Bumpers, on grounds that Bumpers could better manage the legislature.

"The basic reason they are giving for supporting my opponent is that he can better manage the legislature," Rockefeller said. "I take that as a compliment. I don't think you want to see the legislative branch managed by the executive branch."

Turning to Bumpers' campaign strategy, Rockefeller said: "I've asked what his plans are. You know where I stand. You know how I act. You know what you can expect of me. Take a second look and see which of these two men can do more for Arkansas."

Rockefeller said he was prepared to "give all I have for a better Arkansas, but to be realistic, I need your vote on Nov. 3."

At Searcy, Rockefeller met with about a dozen supervisors at the Remington Rand plant.

In answer to a question about whether he intended to again seek an increase in the state income tax, Rockefeller said that he was sure his proposals were going to raise the question, "How much is it going to cost?"

"The answer, I believe, is how much do you want to buy," Rockefeller said.

He told the supervisors that one area of priority was the salaries of state employees, which, he said, averaged $10.35 weekly below salaries in Mississippi, which stands 49th among the states in this area.

Average life expectancy in America is now 70 years for men and 72 for women and may be "going down a bit," said Harmon.

American Life Span Now 70-72

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A new organization's goal of prolonging the American life-span is laudable but could lead to future economic problems if successful, says a population control expert.

Rufus Miles, president of the Population Reference Bureau in Washington, D.C., is not certain, however, the new American Aging Association will achieve any dramatic success in the near future.

Formation of the research group, nicknamed AGE, was announced in New York Monday.

Dr. Denham Harmon, professor of biochemistry and medicine at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine in Omaha, said AGE's purpose is to search for methods of slowing the aging process and inform the public and physicians of the findings.

Average life expectancy in America is now 70 years for men and 72 for women and may be "going down a bit," said Harmon.
